Challenge

To stay ahead of the competition, Unipress is constantly developing new products. The company was poised to roll out a product that would require specialized wiring harnesses. Time was of the essence.

Solution

Speedy rollout: Based on our understanding of Unipress and its business, we created custom wiring harnesses—from technical drawing to production. We worked from Unipress' drawings to build:

- prototype assemblies
- harness boards to assure consistency of intricate designs
- products with short lead times

Our on-staff engineers generated prints and specifications allowing for real-time alterations of harnesses prior to production. With our help, Unipress was ready to roll in only two weeks.

Results

Custom Cable's high-speed, high-quality response and flexibility upheld Unipress' competitive advantage in its industry.
